Report from the board of Trustees

“It has been a busy year with strong investment returns, and superannuation being at the forefront of Government review.”

On behalf of the Board, I welcome you to our annual report for the year to June 2018. Once again it has been a busy year with superannuation making front pages of the newspapers more times than usual.

Outcomes of the Royal Commission

The Royal Commission focussed on a number of areas including misconduct, overcharging of fees and fees for no service. At times, the revelations of the Royal Commission were shocking and deeply disappointing, for both the industry and every Australian.

Important for members

The Federal Government has tabled legislation which may impact members control of their super in the future. The legislation impacts both insurance and inactive members whose balance is less than $6,000, and who have not made a contribution in 12 months or more. Should this legislation be enacted by the Federal Parliament, your best way of responding is to engage with Future Super, confirm that your contact details are up to date, which will ensure that you are not listed as a lost member, consider your insurance held and your future requirements, as well as consolidating your super. Details of your member account will be on your member statement available within your account via Member Online.

Lindfield Investments and Performance

There are two (2) investment options in the Fund for members of Lindfield Super – the Growth Investment Strategy for accumulation members and the Pension Strategy for pension members.

Investment Strategy

The investment strategy of the Fund takes into account the following criteria:

- (i) the risk involved in making, holding and realising investments, and the likely return from those investments, having regard to the Fund's objectives and its expected cash flow requirements;
- (ii) the composition of the Fund's investments as a whole including the extent to which the investments are diverse or involve the option of being exposed to risks from inadequate diversification;
- (iii) the liquidity of the Fund's investments having regard to its expected cash flow requirements; and
- (iv) the ability of the Fund to discharge its existing and prospective liabilities.

The current objective, strategy and asset allocation for Lindfield's investment options is given below. The objective is not a promise or guarantee of a particular return or benefit but is utilised by the Trustee to measure the performance of the option.

Part of the Fund's assets may be allocated to external fund managers and their products. Asset allocations may vary from time to time for various reasons including asset allocation decisions and market movements.

The upper and lower limits of the benchmark may also vary from year to year, depending on changes to the Investment Strategy made by the Trustee.

Refer to the current Lindfield Product Disclosure Statement (PDS) including related Incorporated Information for the Fund for more detailed information about the investment strategy and investment risks. The PDS is available by contacting Lindfield on 02 8355 5149.

You should consider the likely investment return, the risk and your investment time frame when choosing an investment option.

Allocation of Earnings Policy

As the Fund is unitised, the value of your account at any time is the number of units held by you multiplied by the applicable unit price. Earnings from investments are allocated to members through the calculation of unit prices (usually daily) for the investment option. The calculation of unit prices takes into account the performance of underlying investments and any fees, costs and taxes as applicable to the investment option.

Refer to the current PDS applicable to your account for more detailed information about unit pricing, available by contacting Lindfield on 02 8355 5149.

Sometimes unit pricing errors may occur. In the event that a material unit price error is detected and requires rectification, the Trustee may apply a fixed dollar minimum of $20 when determining whether exited (former) members affected by the error should be compensated.

Derivatives

The Trustee does not intend to invest directly in any futures, options or other derivative instruments. However, external managers may use derivatives in managing pooled investment vehicles in which the Trustee invests.

Reserves

Operational Risk Reserve:

As part of the Stronger Super reforms, all superannuation funds are now required to establish and maintain an Operational Risk Reserve (ORR) to specifically cover potential losses arising from operational risks that may affect the Fund's business operations. The Trustee has built up the ORR within the Fund to the defined target. The operational risk reserve is accumulated at up to 0.05% p.a. and indirectly applied through the daily unit price calculation.

The movement of the Operational Risk Reserve for the Grosvenor Pirie Fund since implementation is as follows:

	Balance
Balance: 30 th June 2014	$0
Balance: 30 th June 2015	$162,563
Balance: 30 th June 2016	$609,515
Balance: 30 th June 2017	$349,351
Balance: 30 th June 2018	$387,062

The investment strategy in respect of the ORR is to hold all of its investments in Australian income securities including cash, term deposits, floating rate notes and bonds. This is designed to ensure there will not be large movements in its value due to investment market movements.

Buy/Sell Costs

When a member buys or sells units, this initiates a need for the Trustee to trade the underlying assets that relate to the particular investment transaction. This trading generates transaction costs such as brokerage, settlement costs (including custody costs), government taxes/duties/levies, bank charges and account transaction charges which are paid from the investment option.

These transaction costs are reflected in a buy/sell spread that is taken into account in the calculation of unit prices. The buy/sell spread is the difference between the entry price and exit price of units and is an additional cost incurred by members each time they invest (including via rollovers from other funds) or withdraw funds. The buy/sell spread is retained within the Fund and contributes towards the transaction costs associated with the Fund buying or selling assets in relation to investment transactions initiated by members or relating to the administration of member accounts.

The spread ensures that those members joining or leaving the Fund or product, or switching investment options, contribute towards these transaction costs and other investors who are not joining, leaving or switching investments at that particular time are not disadvantaged.

The buy/sell spread for the investment option is made up of the following costs:

	Buy	Sell
Investment Strategy
Lindfield Growth	0.07%	0.07%
Lindfield Super Pension	0.07%	0.07%

Transfers to an Eligible Rollover Fund (ERF)

Superannuation legislation allows superannuation trustees to transfer benefits to an eligible rollover fund (ERF) as determined by the trustee. We have decided that benefits may be transferred to an ERF as permitted from time to time.

The Trustee's nominated ERF is the Super Money Eligible Rollover Fund) (ABN 94 334 023 289). The contact details of Super Money Eligible Rollover Fund are:

If your superannuation benefits are transferred to Super Money Eligible Rollover Fund, your personal information will be passed on to Super Money Eligible Rollover Fund so they can establish and administer your account.

Once your benefit is transferred to the ERF you become a member of the ERF and cease to be a member of the Lindfield fund. Any insurance cover applicable to you in the Lindfield fund will also cease.

The ERF has different investments and fees and costs to Lindfield. The ERF does not provide insurance cover. If you would like further information about the features of the ERF, contact the Super Money Eligible Rollover Fund for a copy of Super Money Eligible Rollover Fund's product disclosure statement.

The Trustee is also the trustee of Super Money Eligible Rollover Fund and receives remuneration in this capacity.

Superannuation changes announced in the 2018 Federal Budget

Superannuation related changes announced in the recent May 2018 Federal Budget are designed to increase member protection and the flexibility of rules around superannuation. Some of the proposed changes (which have not yet been legislated) are:

- insurance in superannuation will move from default to an opt-in basis for any member with a balance below $6,000, or who is under 25 years or with an inactive account (with no contributions in 13 months). These changes are to take effect from 1 July 2019. Members who are impacted have until then to decide whether to opt-in to their existing cover or allow it to terminate

- administration and investment fees charged by super funds will be capped at 3% pa of accounts with balances below $6,000. Exit fees will be banned for all super accounts. These changes are to take effect from 1 July 2019
- individuals with multiple employers and with income exceeding $236,157 will be able to nominate that wages from certain employers are not subject to SG from 1 July 2018 in order to avoid unintentionally breaching the $25,000 concessional cap
- an exemption from the work test for voluntary contributions for individuals aged 65 to 74 with balances below $300,000 in the first year they do not meet the work test requirements. (The contribution caps will still apply to the contribution.) These changes are to take effect from 1 July 2019
- superannuation fund trustees will be required to develop a retirement income strategy for fund members, which is aimed at supporting the Government's proposed comprehensive income product for retirement (CIPR) framework
- all inactive superannuation accounts (where no contribution has been received for 13 months) with a balances below $6,000 will be required to be transferred to the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). ATO data-matching will be expanded to pro-actively reunite these with members' active accounts, where possible. The changes take effect from 1 July 2019
- the ATO will be provided additional funding to develop new integrity models and undertake additional compliance activity to alert individuals to the requirement that they comply with Notice of Intention to Deduct (NOI) requirements. This measure is proposed to commence from 1 July 2018.

Highlights of key superannuation changes from 1 July 2018

The Government has made a number of significant reform proposals in relation to superannuation, some of which have since been legislated and took effect (generally) from 1 July 2018.

Key changes include:

- from 1 July 2018, superannuation fund members will be able to 'carry-forward' any unused amount of the concessional contributions cap. Members will be able to access their unused concessional contributions cap on a rolling basis for five years. Amounts carried forward that have not been used after five years will expire. The first year in which superannuation fund members can access unused concessional contributions is 2019–20 (when unused concessional contributions for the 2018 – 19 year can be carried forward). Members will only be able to carry-forward their unused concessional contributions cap if their total superannuation balance at the end of 30 June of the previous financial year is less than $500,000
- first home buyers will be able to withdraw voluntary superannuation contributions made from 1 July 2017 for a first home deposit. From 1 July 2017 individuals can contribute up to $15,000 per year (subject to contribution caps). They will be able to withdraw up to $30,000 (plus associated earnings) per person in total under the scheme. Withdrawals of contributions (and any associated deemed earnings) may be made from 1 July 2018
- a person aged 65 or over can contribute up to $300,000 from the proceeds of the sale of their home as a non-concessional contribution into superannuation, from 1 July 2018. This is in addition to the maximum contribution otherwise permitted in super (but the transfer balance cap for conversion from the accumulation to retirement phase will still apply). This measure will apply to sales of a principal residence owned continuously by you and/or your spouse for the past 10 or more years and both members of a couple will be able to take advantage of this measure for the same home
- reforms to dispute handling arrangements have been legislated where the current external dispute resolution body for superannuation, the Superannuation Complaints Tribunal will be replaced with the Australian Financial Complaints Authority from 1 November 2018.

Superannuation changes revisited from 2017 Federal Budget

Total superannuation balance

The total superannuation balance cap was introduced on 30 June 2017, as a test to determine an individual's non concessional contributions cap and bring forward period. Essentially it is the total value of your accumulation and retirement phase interests including any rollover amounts across all of your superannuation providers calculated as at 30 June of each financial year. Excluding any contributions made with the proceeds of a personal injury compensation payment, it is indexed annually. And is $1.6m for the year ending 30 June 2018.

Your total super balance is relevant when working out your eligibility for the:

- unused concessional contributions cap carry-forward
- non-concessional contributions cap and the two or three year bring-forward period
- government co-contribution
- tax offset for spouse contributions.

Concessional cap (CC) $25,000*

* Caps are (indexed in line with the average weekly ordinary time earnings (AWOTE), and rounded down to the nearest $2,500).

Since the 1st July 2017, you have been able to claim a tax deduction for your personal voluntary contributions to a complying superannuation fund up to the CC. Certain eligibility rules apply. Further guidance can be found at www.ato.gov.au.

2018/2019 financial year

Non-Concessional cap (NCC)

Annual (1 year) $100,000

3 year bring forward $300,000

 Available if you are aged 65 or under. (indexed to four times the annual concessional contributions cap). If total superannuation balance at 30 June 2018 is $1.6m or more, NCC cap is nil.

 This maximum amount will decrease if your total superannuation balance is over $1.4m.

Non-concessional contribution restrictions

Members with a total super balance of $1,400,000 or more on 30 June 2017 have restrictions on the amount that can be contributed to super. This includes:

- a reduced NCC
- a shorter bring forward period
- the inability to make any contributions if your total super balance is over $1,600,000.

The bring-forward arrangement

If you are under 65 years of age, you may make non-concessional contributions of up to three times the annual non-concessional contributions cap in a single year by bringing forward your non-concessional contributions cap for a two or three-year period. If eligible, you automatically gain access to future-year caps known as the bring-forward arrangement.

Going forward into the 2018-19 financial year, to access the bring-forward arrangement:

- you must be under age 65 years of age for at least one day during the triggering year (the first year)
- your total superannuation balance must be less than $1.5 million as at 30 June 2018
- the remaining cap amount for years two and three of a bring forward arrangement will be reduced to nil for a financial year if your total super balance is greater than or equal to the general transfer cap of $1.6 million as at 30 June of the previous financial year.

The bring forward applies from 1 July of the first financial year where NCC's exceed $100,000. Transition rules apply where bring forward was triggered in 2016/17 and total NCC's up to 30 June 2017 were less than $540,000.

How the bring-forward arrangement works

Total super balance at 30 June 2017	Max. non-concessional contributions cap for first year available	Bring-forward period
Less than $1.4m	$300,000	3 years
$1.4m to less than $1.5m	$200,000	2 years
$1.5m to less than $1.6m	$100,000	No bring-forward period, general concessional contribution cap applies
$1.6m	Nil	N/A

Transfer balance cap

The transfer balance cap introduced a new limit on the amount of your accumulated super benefits that you can transfer or hold in retirement phase to support an income stream over the course of your lifetime. Starting at $1.6m and in place since the 1st July 2017, it is indexed in line with the consumer price index (CPI). However, the indexation is based on the amount remaining of available cap space.

The transfer balance cap does not include transition to retirement (TRR) accounts, and there is no limit on the amount you can have in your accumulation super accounts.

The transfer balance cap works in a similar way to a bank account. Amounts transferred to the retirement phase give rise to a credit (an increase), and certain transfers out of the retirement phase give rise to a debit (a decrease) in your transfer balance account. You will be able to make multiple transfers into retirement phase accounts, as long as you have available cap space. After 1 July 2017, if your pension account(s) grow over time (through investment earnings to more than $1.6 million), you will not exceed your cap. However, if your pension accounts go down over time, you cannot 'top up', if you have already used your cap.

What counts towards your transfer balance cap?

- The combined value of all superannuation pension accounts held in retirement phase.
- The value of other pensions or annuities must also be counted towards your cap, for example:
 - a superannuation pension you start to receive from a deceased spouse's superannuation account
 - a pension income you receive from a former spouse's superannuation pension as part of a family court settlement.

Although there is a limit on the amount of assets you can transfer into a tax free retirement phase (pension) account, this does not affect the amount you can have in the accumulation of taxable income phase of a super fund. Any amount can be held in super accumulation (taxable) phase, and/or be taken as lump sum payments.

Consider obtaining financial advice to assess your closeness to the total super balance and transfer balance cap, and to assist you to determine your ability to make further non-concessional contributions.
